Scope and Contents Note

The novelist Kaye Gibbons was born in Nash County, North Carolina, and took her undergraduate degree at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Her first novel, Ellen Foster, published in 1978 by Algonquin Books of Chapel Hill when she was 26, earned immediate critical recognition and accolades from Eudora Welty and Walker Percy. For it, Gibbons won the Sue Kaufman Prize for First Fiction of the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters and the Louis D. Rubin Writing Award. It has become a contemporary classic, taught in high schools and universities alongside such works as Catcher in the Rye and To Kill A Mockingbird.

The Kaye Gibbons Archive covers her literary career to 2006. The archive includes notes, drafts edited typescripts, and proofs for Ms. Gibbons’ novels, together with typescripts for stories and essays, correspondence, reviews, etc. The archive itself is support by a very full collection of advance proofs, published books including reprints and translations, limited editions, etc. The list below covers boxed archival materials. Books by Kaye Gibbons, advance proofs, and some other published items by Kaye Gibbons are not included in the list; they have been cataloged and shelved as individual items. Detailed entries for such items are available in the library’s on-line catalogue at http://libcat.csd.sc.edu/. One archival item, the annotated typescript of Kaye Gibbons’ talk “Saying it: don't try this at home,” at the library’s Ex Libris Society meeting, November 8, 2004 (previously donated by the author), is also cataloged individually at PS3557.I13917 S3 2004.
