Speeches Series, 1952-2004
Boxes 688-695

Please see the website for the Hollings Papers for additional collection finding aids.

Description of Materials

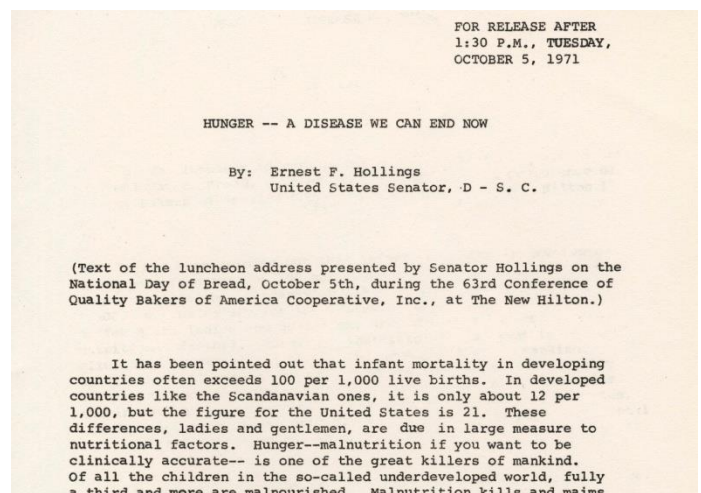

Speeches, 1952 to 2004 and amounting to eight linear feet of material, are arranged chronologically within two sections: speech texts (approx. 1450 in all) and speech-related material. Speech texts include full texts of speeches, notes for speeches, edited and unedited speech drafts, and speech memos. Hollings often spoke without a prepared text in front of him and when he did have such a text, he was known frequently to go off-script. Filed throughout the speech texts are speaking invitations and event programs. Speech-related material consists of handwritten notes, reference materials, sample introductions, and quotes. Hollings and his staff used these materials to craft speeches.

The majority of speeches are from Hollings' Senate career, 1966 to 2005, as radio broadcasts, on the Senate floor, at Democratic conventions, on campaign stops, and at invited speaking engagements. Major topics include agriculture, textiles, oceans, tobacco, civil rights, foreign policy and Vietnam, healthcare, education, veterans' affairs and the Democratic Party. Notable early speeches include his Inaugural Address of Jan., 1959, and his final speech to the General Assembly in Jan., 1963. In this speech, then-Governor Hollings called upon the Assembly and the public to accept the court-ordered integration of the public schools and admission to Clemson University of Harvey Gantt and urged that the Assembly must "make clear South Carolina's choice, a government of laws rather than a government of men."

Please see the Speech Appendix (pages 3-30) for a list of every speech in date order.

Digitized Materials

Several dozen speeches from throughout his career, including his 1959 Gubernatorial Inaugural Address and 1963 historic final speech to the General Assembly (both mentioned above), are available online in "Fritz Hollings: In His Own Words." a digital collection of writings, speeches, photographs, and audio files. One of the speeches available, "Hunger—A Disease We Can End Now" given by Hollings in 1971 on the National Day of Bread, is shown at right.
